Contents

Introduction 1
The Black Imagination and the Genres :
Science Fiction, Futurism and the Speculative
Sandra Jackson & Julie Moody-Freeman

1. The Future of Race in Afro-Futurist Fiction 15
Madhu Dubey

2. Brave Black Worlds: Black Superheroes as Science Fiction Ciphers 32
Adilifu Nama

3. "Explorers"—Star Trek: Deep Space Nine 47
Micheal Charles Pounds

4. Connecting to a Future Community: Storytelling, the Database, and Nalo Hopkinson's Midnight Robber 81
Alisa K. Braithwaite

5. Science Fiction, Feminism and Blackness: 100
The Multifaceted Import of Octavia Butler's Work
Shannon Gibney

6. The Absence of Meat in Oankali Dietary Philosophy: An Eco-Feminist-Vegan Analysis of Octavia Butler's Dawn 111
AMIE BREEZE HARPER

7. Speculative Poetics: Audre Lorde as Prologue for Queer Black Futurism 130
ALEXIS PAULINE GUMBS

8. "Why white people feel they got to mark us?": Bodily Inscription, Healing and Maternal "Plots of Power" in Jewelle Gomez's "Louisiana1850" 146
MARIE-LUISE LOEFFLER

9. The Unshakable Intent to Commit Genocide: Walter Mosely's The Wave, 9/11 and Politics out of Context 166
BRANDON KEMPNER

10. Techno-Utopia and the Search for Saaraba (1989) 187
DEBBIE OLSON

11. Towards a Black Science Fiction Cinema: The Slippery Signifier of Race and the Films of Will Smith 204
STEPAHNIE LARRIEUX

Contributors 221

Index 225