

G
German L
Linguistic and C
Cultural S
Studies

Geraldine Horan, Felicity Rash
and Daniel Wildmann (eds)

English and German Nationalist and Anti-Semitic Discourse,
1871–1945

Peter Lang

Contents

GERALDINE HORAN, FELICITY RASH AND DANIEL WILDMANN

Introduction 1

FELICITY RASH

Contextualizing Nationalism and Anti-Semitism 1871–1945 5

ULRICH CHARPA

Anti-Semitism as Mental Mechanism: A Model Suggested by Some Similarities between Nineteenth-Century Anti-Semitisms
in Music and Science 21

STEFAN HÜPPING

‘Mag der Jude seine Religion behalten, wenn er sich nur zum
Deutschtum bekennt’: The Philo-Semitic Nationalism of Friedrich von Oppeln-Bronikowski (1883–1936) as a Paradigm of German Conservative Thinking 49

ISABELLE ENGELHARDT

A Political Catholic View: Discourses on the Judenfrage in the Daily Newspaper Germania 1918–1933 71

HELEN ROCHE

‘In Sparta fühlte ich mich wie in einer deutschen Stadt’
(Goebbels): The Leaders of the Third Reich and the Spartan Nationalist Paradigm 91

KARIN STÖGNER

- On Anti-Semitism and Nationalism at the fin de siècle:
Walter Benjamin's Critique of the German Youth Movement 117

MARTIN WEIDINGER

- Fridericus, Madame Dubarry and die Nibelungen:
The (Nationalist) Politics of Historical Films in Weimar Germany 145

SIMONE BEATE BORGSTEDT

- Dr Ernst Henrici: Just a 'well-known arsonist' of the German Kaiserreich or Foreman in the Production of an Aryan Volksgemeinschaft? 163

STEPHANIE SEUL

- British Press Coverage of German Anti-Semitism in the Early Weimar Republic, 1918–1923 183

RUSSELL M. WALLIS

- 'Good' Germans, 'Bad' Nazis and British Reactions to the Holocaust 211

EGBERT KLAUTKE

- Perfidious Albion: Wilhelm Wundt's Völkerpsychologie and Anti-English Propaganda during World War I 235

- Notes on Contributors 257

- Index 261